

Taos in the Community: Cultivating Opportunities for Women in Business

While it's been our business for the past nearly 20 years to provide organizations with great technology solutions like our Infrastructure Managed Services, it hasn't been our only job. Throughout our history, Taos has been dedicated to providing opportunities for women in business to connect and develop professionally. Of the five members of our Executive Leadership Team, four of them are women; most of whom worked their way up to their current roles by serving within a number of internal departments. In support of this mission, Taos hosts a series of Women in IT Leadership dinners designed to foster a strong sense of community and encourage networking amongst IT executives.

In addition to providing opportunities for women leaders to connect, Taos also reaches out to women who are in need of opportunities for professional growth. Our company donates to the Dress for Success non-profit organization which provides assistance to women transitioning from unemployment to self-sufficiency. Perhaps our proudest form of outreach is our relationship with our business partner Televerde. Televerde employs a unique business model that develops and trains women in the Arizona Department of Corrections facilities to be contributing professionals and highly skilled employees. For the past 4 years, Televerde has provided Taos with telemarketing services and has proven to be a productive extension of our team.

To learn more about our Women in IT Dinners, email Sobrina Tung or to find out how you can help the Dress for Success organization, visit Dress for Success.